"BILLY" SWAYS IMMENSE THROG WITH HIS APPEAL

Nearly Two Hundred Men Hit the Sawdust Trail at the Afternoon Meeting at Tabernacle.

STARTS OUT ON LAST WEEK

In His Morning Sermon Evangelist Assails the Empty-Headed Society Woman.

NEXT SABBATH THE LAST DAY

"Billy" Sunday went after trail-hitters yesterday afternoon, and he got them—197 of them. With every appeal and every art which he knows he created such an effect that the entire audience of 9,500 men was under his spell and one bearded man past middle age was seized with a temporary mania.

The man, who had been seated on the platform, rushed up to Sunday just as the evangelist opened the trail. He fell to his hands and knees, his body twitching and shaking as though in an ague, and his lips muttering prayers.

Ushers took him in charge, overcame his desire to grovel on the floor by placing him in a chair and held him fast until the attack spent its strength. In half an hour he had recovered.

The victim of "Billy's" eloquence declined to give his name. He said he was a member of the Methodist church and that he had hit the trail several days ago.

Start of Last Week. "Billy" was at his best yesterday. It was the beginning of the last week of the campaign and of what he hopes will be the successful week in point of number of trail-hitters.

His sermon was accompanied by all the acrobatics which have made him famous and was a direct and powerful appeal to sinners to be saved. It was entitled "How To Be Less Than a Man." It appealed in turn to all the emotions of men on which Sunday found it possible to play.

"Do you want to know why a lot of you fellows have not come down the sawdust trail?" he demanded. "It's because you're not man enough to do it. You have not come down and shaken my hand and gone out and told the world you're a Christian, because you're not man enough to do it."

Not Man Enough to Be Christian. "I hurt it into your old teeth," he shouted. "You're not man enough to be a Christian."

To be saved, "Billy" said, means to be a man. "If you want to be less than a man, go to hell," he told the audience. He also said: "It's a disgrace to your manhood that men fill the haunts of vice with three-fourths of the membership of the churches are women."

"It is contemptible after a man has drained the cup of life to throw the dregs in God's face, but God is so good that he will take even the fragments."

In the midst of a pathetic story which caused many to shed tears, "Billy" said: "And he went from bad to worse and from there to Chicago."

Attacks Ingersoll. "Billy" attacked Robert Ingersoll savagely. After describing him as a man of supreme ability and genius he called him "nothing but a mouthful of sweetened wind," and "a wrecker pure and simple."

He declared Ingersoll's preachings of skepticism had done great harm and asserted he would prefer being a vile outcast to being Ingersoll.

Morning Service at Tab. "When a girl lives for the vain flattery of a thing we mistakenly call a man, God pity her empty head full of bulk oysters and sawdust." Thus spoke Rev. William A. Sunday in his morning sermon at the tabernacle.

To me the emptiest thing on earth is the mere society woman, who lives for fringes and dances."

Yet this was not a frappe sermon, or a dance sermon, nor yet a society sermon. Mr. Sunday was preaching on the subject of "preparedness," one might say—that is preparedness at all times to give a reason for one's faith in Jesus Christ. That material happiness cannot bring peace, that wealth cannot bring peace, that splendid equipages, costly liveries, rich robes and flashing diamonds cannot bring peace to the soul, the evangelist pointed out with many a rocket of eloquence.

World Going Mad. "The world is going mad today," he said, "looking for rest of soul. If the ratio of insanity keeps pace with the (Continued on Page Two, Column Three.)

WRECK SURVIVOR TELLS HIS STORY

Tecumseh Man Pinioned in One Car Up to Neck in Water for Over an Hour.

SPECIAL TRAIN RUN TO LINCOLN

TECUMSEH, Neb., Oct. 17.—(Special Telegram.)—Carl Brock, one of the five Tecumseh men in the Union Pacific wreck at Randolph, Kan., yesterday, returned home this afternoon. He escaped with a dislocated shoulder and severe bruises and lacerations. He gives a graphic description of the wreck, being pinioned in one of the cars in water up to his chin for more than an hour and being in a semi-conscious state during this time.

Special Train to Lincoln. Word comes from relatives of the victims at Randolph that the Union Pacific will run a special train to Lincoln tonight. The bodies of A. O. Shaw and Theodore Smith of this city, who were killed, will be on this train, as will E. C. Hedrick and C. W. Jones, who were injured. Jones' injuries are not bad and it is said Mr. Hedrick, though seriously injured, will recover. The bodies and the patients will reach Tecumseh at 1:30 o'clock in the morning. Up to this time no arrangements have been made for the funerals of Mr. Shaw and Mr. Smith.

RANDOLPH, Kan., Oct. 17.—The exact number of dead in the wreck yesterday of the Union Pacific motor train at the Fancy Creek bridge near here may never be known.

When the car, which plunged head first into the creek, was raised tonight, the front end dropped out, carrying into the flooded stream those bodies which the rescuers were unable to reach last night.

All efforts to find the bodies in the racing stream had failed tonight. The number is not known, but officials estimate that four and possibly six persons were drowned in addition to the eleven whose bodies were recovered yesterday.

In the dive into the mud and rock at the bottom of the stream, where the car carrying sixty-five passengers plunged from the bridge abutment gave way, the front of the coach was demolished. Of the thirty passengers in that end of the car, the swift flood waters lodged much sand and mud about them.

The stream was too swift for divers to examine the bottom closely when the car was lifted, but it was found that the hole the car had gouged out in the stream's bottom was of a great depth and was fast filling with mud and swept down by the current.

It is believed by officials that several bodies were buried by this mud and sand before the car was raised and remained there afterwards.

Several Charity Programs Given By Social Circle

A Social Service circle is being organized by Miss Madge Mae Bourne, the object of which is to furnish a musical program one evening each month at the different charitable institutions. On Tuesday evening the members will go to the Old People's Home, where Miss Esther Erickson and Miss Arvilla Moore will give a program. From there, they will go to the county hospital, where the entertainment will be furnished by Mrs. W. H. Griffith, Paul Castor, Fred Eastman, and Miss Bourne. At the Detention Home, Mr. and Mrs. Claude Coyle and Miss Beattie Sherlock will take part, and at the House of Hope, Harry Griewald will sing, and Jean Gilbert Jones will play.

At the Social Settlement, Mrs. Walter Jenkins and Miss Beattie Bathy of Council Bluffs will furnish the music.

Virginian Named to Succeed Gaffney

WASHINGTON, Oct. 17.—William H. Gale of Virginia was appointed consul general at Munich, Germany, today, succeeding T. St. John Gaffney, whose resignation was requested because of unneutral utterances. Mr. Gale formerly was consul at Colon, Panama, but had been transferred recently to Christiania.

Rebels Plaster Face Of Botha with Mud

LONDON, Oct. 17.—A Ruter dispatch from Capetown says: "General Louis Botha, the premier, has concluded another electrifying tour on which he addressed many meetings in former rebel centers in the western Transvaal. At a majority of these meetings he received a peaceful hearing and obtained votes of confidence, but at Christiana he was howled down and his face bespattered with mud."

WILSON TAKES DAY OFF WITH FIANCEE

President and His Cousins and Mrs. Galt Motor to Harper's Ferry.

THEY EAT AT A PUBLIC INN

WASHINGTON, Oct. 17.—President Wilson took a holiday today and with Mrs. Norman Galt, his fiancée, and his cousins, Misses Lucy and Mary Smith of New Orleans, motored to Harper's Ferry, W. Va., for luncheon. Tonight the party attended a theater here.

The motorists left the White House this morning without telling White House officials where they were going. It was raining and the roads were muddy, but the holiday-makers were not to be discouraged and noon found the White House car at Harper's Ferry, seventy-two miles away. At an inn overlooking the Potomac and Shenandoah rivers the president registered, writing "Woodrow Wilson and party."

The inn is kept by a negro family and the president and Mrs. Galt, both of whom were born in Virginia, ordered an old-fashioned southern dinner, which was served in the public dining room where there were twenty other guests. The president asked particularly for apple pie for dessert, but was given "poor man's" pudding. He paid for the dinner himself and tipped the waitress.

The news that the president was in the vicinity had preceded him on the return trip and at Frederick, Rockville and other towns many people waited to see the White House automobile go by and tried to get a glimpse of Mr. Wilson and Mrs. Galt. The party reached the White House shortly after 6 o'clock.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 17.—(Special Telegram.)—Upwards of 60 officers and members of the Supreme Council, Ancient and Accepted Scottish Rite, southern jurisdiction, and other thirty-third degree Masons, registered today in the office of the general secretary. Among the western arrivals were C. C. Quigley and Henry H. Wilson of Lincoln and Frederick J. Shufeldt of Hastings, Neb.; J. E. Irwin of Dell Rapids, S. D.; and J. L. Van Tassel of Yankton, S. D. Upwards of fifty more are expected early tomorrow morning in time to take part in the dedication of the magnificent new building on Sixteenth street, designed by John Russell Pope, to which the "House of the Temple" will be transferred tomorrow. The ceremonies will occupy the greater part of Monday and Tuesday and on Wednesday 400 thirty-third degree Masons will assemble in the banquet hall of the Shoreham hotel before taking their departure for their homes.

Flourished Three Million Years Ago

NEW YORK, Oct. 17.—A specimen of the tyrannosaurus, forty-seven feet long and eighteen feet high, was placed on exhibition today at the American Museum of Natural History. It was unearthed on Big Dry creek in the Montana bad lands by Barnum Brown, a fossil hunter, who has discovered several specimens of the dinosaur. The tyrannosaurus is distinctly related to lizards, but has hind legs fashioned like those of birds. It roamed through the great basins of the west 2,000,000 years ago.

ANTI-TREATING LAW MAY BE ENFORCED

Nebraska Attorney General Seriously Considers Move to Give Dead Letter Statute Life.

SURE OF DRYS AND BAR MEN

(From a Staff Correspondent.) LINCOLN, Neb., Oct. 17.—(Special.)—Attorney General Willis E. Reed is wrestling with the question of whether it would be good politics for him to start a crusade for the enforcement of the Nebraska anti-treating law.

Mr. Reed, who undoubtedly will aspire to a seat in the United States senate in 1918, and a second term as attorney general in 1916, is casting eyes about for political timber upon which to make a campaign next year. He is rather inclined to believe the prohibition move would be a winner.

Would Please Both Sides. The attorney general figures the prohibitionists certainly would not object to the crusade, as they have been demanding it for years. The saloon men certainly could not object, he believes, since they have been using the Blumhug law to fight prohibition. Reed reasons he will catch them coming and going.

The attorney general will shortly announce his decision. The Omaha municipal license year begins January 1, and he proposes to start things in plenty of time so that those who apply for licenses next year will know just what they have to go up against.

Method of Procedure. If the attorney general decides on the crusade, he undoubtedly will have some county attorney write in relative to the enforcement of the anti-treating law, and will then volunteer his services.

Half of Victims of Air Raid in London Die from the Shock

LONDON, Oct. 17.—The medical evidence at the inquest held today on the eighteen victims in the London area of the Zeppelin raid Wednesday night disclosed that the death of half of them, the majority of whom were women, was due to heart failure or shock resulting from the terrifying effect of the exploding bombs and the gunfire.

One victim was an elderly woman who had sought refuge in her husband's arms. He had said to her: "Never mind; we will die together if the worst happens." He was not hurt.

Among those who died from injuries was a young man who was sitting against a wall, his severed arm lying loose in his sleeve. To those who came to his assistance he said: "I am still sticking to it."

In a house which was struck by one bomb and damaged by two others, three boys sleeping in the same bed were killed. A young man who ran out of the house in the neighborhood in which bombs were falling received a mortal wound, but the other occupants, who remained behind to dress, were unhurt.

A father, mother and daughter were found dead under the wreckage of a small villa on which a bomb fell. A dressmaker's assistant was found dead in a cellar in which she had taken refuge on the first alarm.

Direct Legislation Is Up to High Court

PIERRE, S. D., Oct. 17.—(Special Telegram.)—Content over the right of the legislature to wipe out an act which had been initiated by the people, was argued in the supreme court today. The contention on the one side is that it was the intent by such amendment to the constitution to give the people complete right to propose and enact laws, and that the legislature has no right to interfere; that where the constitution leaves members of the legislature the right to propose measures, it means just what it proposes means in their right to begin action for a constitutional amendment, and can only be applied to measures which must be submitted.

The attorneys for the state contend that it was never intended to limit the power of the legislature by the initiative amendment. The whole issue of direct legislation in this state is at issue.

Ambassador Page Denies He Resigned

LONDON, Oct. 17.—A report was current in London tonight that the American ambassador, Walter H. Page, had sent a cablegram to Washington offering his resignation from the ambassadorship. Mr. Page, who was apprised of the report, said to the Associated Press: "There is no truth in such a report. I have not resigned and I have taken no action which would justify a rumor to that effect."

CO-OPERATION IS ASKED BY FARMER

More Team-Work Between City and Country Is Desired by Nebraska Farmers' Congress.

SEVEN THOUSAND INVITED

Closer co-operation between town and country. The city man wants it. The farmer wants it. For this reason "Community Interest" or co-operation of town and country, has been made the general theme of the Nebraska Farmers' Congress to hold its convention in Omaha November 9 to December 2.

W. F. Baxter of Omaha and Ross L. Hammond of Fremont are to present the town side, while C. Tyson of Tobias, and C. H. Gustafson of Mead, are to present the farmers' side.

Seven hundred and seventy farmers' organizations in the state have been invited to send delegates to the convention. The bureau of publicity sent out the invitations.

A session of the convention is also to be devoted to the rural school question. This will be led by W. H. Campbell of Clark, Neb. The report of the committee on rural schools adopted last year, will be made and discussed.

Discuss Farm Management.

One session is to be given over to the subject of farm management. Mr. Williams of the United States Department of Agriculture has made an exhaustive survey of the subject of farm management, cost of production of given products of the farm, profits and losses, and is to make his figures public at this meeting. His survey covers facts gleaned from a study of 1,000 farms in all parts of the country.

Another session is to be devoted to the subject of marketing. Dr. George E. Condra of the University of Nebraska will show moving picture reels of farm activities in Nebraska, while E. V. Parrish of the bureau of publicity will give a number of the Omaha reels.

Each of the 70 farmers' organizations in the state that have been invited to name delegates, is entitled to ten delegates. This does not mean that there will be 7,000 delegates at the meeting, for many will send but one delegate and vote the whole delegation by proxy on all questions that come up before the convention.

Player for Nebraska While in Game Hears Of His Father's Death

(From a Staff Correspondent.) LINCOLN, Oct. 17.—(Special Telegram.)—Albert Shaw, right tackle on the Cornhusker football team, whose father was killed in the Union Pacific wreck in Kansas today, was in the game when a message arrived announcing the death of his parent. Shaw was withdrawn from the game and hurried to a train to return home to Tecumseh.

Shaw is a sophomore in the university and a member of the Alpha Tau Omega fraternity.

BERLIN HASN'T HEARD OF BATTLE OFF MOEN

AMSTERDAM (Via London), Oct. 17.—A semi-official telegram from Berlin states that nothing is known there of an engagement between German warships and a British submarine off the island of Moen in which a German torpedo boat was reported to have been sunk.

The telegram suggests that the explosion of a mine probably led to the report. Apartments, flats, houses and cottages can be rented quickly and cheaply by a Bee "For Rent."

Sir Lionel Carden, Friend of Huerta, Is Dead in London

LONDON, Oct. 17.—Sir Lionel Carden, who was British minister to Mexico from 1913 until August, 1914, when he was forced to leave Mexico City by General Carranza after the overthrow of President Huerta, died in London today.

Sir Lionel Edward Greasley Carden was born in County Tipperary, Ireland, in 1851. Sir Lionel was best known in this country as minister to Mexico, where he came into prominence following the assumption of power by General Huerta.

Sir Lionel figured largely in the press of the United States through his reported criticism of the policy of the American government relative to Mexico. In February, 1914, he was called to London for conference. In April Sir Lionel was appointed minister to Brazil. Shortly afterward he proceeded to Mexico City, where, it was stated, he was to take charge of British affairs until July 1 of that year, when he would proceed to Rio de Janeiro. He remained in Mexico City until September, 1914, when he was forced to leave the capital by General Carranza, who is said to have believed that the minister was largely responsible for Huerta's resistance to diplomatic pressure.

Sir Lionel's wife was Anne Eliza Leferts of Brooklyn, N. Y.

High Schools in South Dakota Debating League

SIOUX FALLS, S. WOULD HAVE GREECE DECIDE AT GUN POINT

LONDON, Oct. 17.—Holding the time has arrived to demand that Greece put an end to all doubts regarding its attitude, the London Evening Standard suggests that Greece should be open to arguments presented with "forceful tact," by a British fleet in the shape of a blockade.

BANDIT MURDERS MAN WITH GIRLAS WARDS OFF PISTOL

Highwayman Kills W. H. Smith of Council Bluffs as He Escorts Miss Grace Slater to Her Home.

HANDS RAISED TOO SLOWLY

Fiend Drags Young Woman from Scene and Releases Her Without Attack After Nearly Hour.

THOUGHT TO BE HAUSE HOLDUP

William Harry Smith, cashier for the Woodmen of the World, and living with his wife and two children at 218 Fuller avenue, Council Bluffs, was murdered Saturday at Thirtieth and Dodge streets by a highway robber supposed to be the same who last Saturday night held up and robbed a card party at the home of W. T. Hause.

Smith was escorting Miss Grace Slater, 422 North Thirty-fourth street, a 22-year-old clerk for the Woodmen, to her home when the robber halted them.

"Oh, you wouldn't rob me. I've only got a few dollars," Smith laughed, when the masked bandit shoved a pistol against him.

Strikes Gun Down.

A bullet was the reply. As the bandit fired, Smith struck the gun down with Miss Slater's parasol, which he was carrying, and the ball entered his right groin, severing an artery. Before doctors could get to him, he died from the loss of blood.

Immediately after firing the shot, the bandit seized Miss Slater by the arm and forced her to accompany him. He kept her walking in front of him, and when pedestrians approached he removed the mask he wore. After the pedestrians passed he turned it again, meanwhile keeping the girl from getting a look at his face. He forced Miss Slater to remain in his company for nearly an hour. At Fortieth and Burt he took 80 cents from the girl, and, after handling her outrageously, threatened to assault her.

Threatens to Attack Girl. "Oh, you wouldn't do that," the frightened girl sobbed. "Think of your mother. I'm a pure girl. You wouldn't—you couldn't treat a decent woman so."

"You're right," the bandit answered. He gave her back a nickel. "Now get on that car and go home," he commanded. The girl boarded the car and hurried home, from where she notified the police.

Her Woman Scream. The murder occurred just in front of the home of Mrs. F. W. Fogg, 815 Dodge. Mrs. Fogg, her two daughters, Ione and Adelaide, were entertaining D. J. Callahan and W. H. Phelps. It was just a minute or so before 9 o'clock that a pistol shot interrupted them. A second later a woman's piercing scream followed.

Miss Ione Fogg ran to a window just in time to see a man hurrying through their tennis court, going north, pushing a woman before him. It was too dark to see any faces.

W. S. Heller, district court reporter, and his son, Benton, came along a few minutes afterwards and stumbled over the corpse. It was the first intimation that a crime had been committed. When the police came there was no clue, save a woman's parol.

Officer Finds Brother-in-Law. Officer Jim Murphy identified the dead man as Mrs. Murphy's brother-in-law.

Detectives were immediately sent out, but nothing developed until nearly an hour and a half later, when Miss Slater called headquarters and was brought to the station to tell her story.

She is a clerk employed by the Woodmen of the World, and directly under the supervision of Mr. Smith. She has been (Continued on Page Two, Column Two.)
